

Case Study | AI for Verification of Employment

After using our new processes for one month, we were able to cut the time in half to complete a verification of employment. The level of efficiency increased, and our client was no longer stressing to build their pipeline of qualified professional caregivers to their team. Additionally, we were able to improve the time-to-hire process, and our client was able to fulfill their client needs in a timely manner.

Overall, the CEO of the organization has since adopted this new process throughout the company. The Talent Acquisition team is over the moon with the improved time-to-hire ratio, and their clients are beyond happy to know they have the care when they need it.
